Principal Fronts and Locale of World Security Conference

Three Armies Closing In on Hitler's Hideout

PARIS, April 25 (Wednesday) (AP)—Whirling down on Hitler's Bavarian mountain retreat, three Allied armies curved the tips of a pincers within 25 miles of Austria's borders last night.

In the North, the British Second Army opened the final assault on Germany's second port of Bremen, and Canadian First Army forces in Holland cleared the whole of the Frisian Peninsula which forms Northeastern Holland.

William Pyle, an Associated Press war correspondent reported the battle for Bremen opened at one minute before midnight as Buffaloes (amphibious vehicles) carrying British assault troops, splashed into the Weser, flank northeast of Brinkum toward the port, which lies outside the River Weser.

Along the Elbe River the Russians drew closer in a historic union with the waiting Americans.

Berlin blared lit its final agonies and had propagandists and Hitler was within the crumbling capital, directing military operations. Other European sources, however, expressed belief he had fled to his Berchtesgaden retreat toward which the American Third and Seventh and French First Armies were beating a triple drive.

Allied Supreme Headquarters, reporting the Allies had captured more than 1,000,000 Germans in the West since April 1, heard resistance on part of the Bavarian front was crumbling while along the Elbe River German soldiers were racing with civilians to surrender to the

In the auditorium of the San Francisco Opera House (above), delegates to the United World Security Conference will gather today in discussions upon which in all probability rests the future peace of the world. Main responsibility for reaching accord on far reaching questions affecting almost all nations lies on the shoulders of the four foreign ministers shown here, the representatives of Great Britain, the United States, Russia and China, sponsoring powers of the conference

First World Parliament In Embryo to Be Opened Today at San Francisco

By SANDHAM GRAVES
Editor of The Daily Colonist

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25 (Wednesday).—Mankind may yet be a long way from Tennyson's glorious vision of the Parliament of Man, but when the free nations of the world sit down together at 4 p.m. today at the San Francisco Opera House, with the determination not to rise until a world security organization is not only drafted but also in good working order, they will be making history as no millenium has attempted it before

The choice is stark and plain and every delegate and every nation knows it. It is suspicion and world chaos, or good will and an orderly working out of the grave problems left by a world in flames. The foundation of international law, justice and fair play has to be built from the smoking ruins on the ground, and built so that a free world will abide by it.

It should be stressed immediately that the great human drama opening here is aimed at world order and World security, and has nothing to do with the peace. Peace conferences there will be, but that which brings the United Nations into being is a permanent world organization—powerful enough to have their way and flexible enough for the regional control of sectional differences—is greater than any conference merely to end hostilities

Its whole aim is to insure that peace will be the settled way of mankind and that never again need any race resort to arms for the settlement of disputes. That is aim, and it is the vision, and it is a very great one. It obsesses every mind here to a concentration of world opinion that has been without parallel before.

For the first time in a good many centuries mankind has the opportunity to undo some of the mischief that was done when there was erected the Tower of Babel, speaking a thousand tongues, acting the world from their own vocal pointers—these delegates, these nations are alike in one thing—a grim spirit of determination to end for all time what Hitler stood for.

Hon. Cordell Hull has put into three lines what today can mean, and must be made to mean to the world, when he wrote in his message to the conference "I regard this meeting of the United Nations as one of the greatest events in the history The decisions made there will guide the destinies of the human race for generations to come"

It is an open secret that President Roosevelt would have opened the conference bag he lived, but let none belie his spirit is not here it is.

The general fragmwork of the world organization is well enough known It will be the essential structure of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals as modified by the conferees here in plenary session There will be a world police force acting through a permanent headquarters at the direction of the Security

Canadians Clear All Peninsula

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY, April 24 (CP)—Virtually all the Frisian Peninsula, forming Northeast Holland, has been liberated by the Canadian First Army, which has taken more than 28,000 prisoners since the March 24 Allied crossing that preceded the drive into Northeast Holland and Northwest Germany.

The Canadians have cleared the Zuider Zee and North Sea coasts from Harlingen-Ijlt at the base of the great inland sea around to the area of Apelsk, 18 miles northeast of Groningen and two miles west of the Ems Estuary.

One hundred and fifty miles of coast are represented in the liberation area, which includes almost all of the five provinces of Frisia, Groningen, Drenthe, Overijssel and Gelderland.

However, the Germans hold the Ems Estuary and river line from Bjilt, in Groningen Province, down to Leer, east of the Ems 14 miles southeast of Emden.

Once this pocket is cleaned up only two Netherlands provinces remain to be freed—Holland and Utrecht. A great part of Utrecht is under water, except for the city of Utrecht itself. In this area are the great cities of Amsterdam, Rotterdam and The Hague, where living conditions are desperate Authorities have reported the daily death rate in Amsterdam alone is 500

This area—Northern Holland—is separated from both east and west Canadians participated along the Zuider Zee, rounding south from the Zuider Zee to the Neder Rijnsk. Lower Rhine, and Hilter's Chancellery.

Fall of Berlin, therefore, must be accounted an outstanding portent Much of its military importance has been nullified now. Its war factories have been wrecked by British bombers, its roads and railways battered, but it is still the strategic centre of some importance

No conqueror has occupied Berlin since Napoleon and it has been a shrine and symbol ever since of the military pride in which all Germans gloried Even in its fall it will mean to the German soldiers everywhere a shattering of all their ideals and desertions of all their hopes.

As for the Bavarian redoubt where the Nazi leaders may retreat to await final overthrow, The Times attaches great significance to the movements of Allied armies toward Munich French forces have cut off escape for German refugees into Switzerland. After Berlin's fall the chief strategic objective will be operations for the capture of the last remnant of Hitler's lairs.

Operations for a direct assault on the region around Berchtesgaden, says The Times, Paris correspondent, already are developing Allied armies have deployed across Wurtemberg and Bavaria

LONDON, April 24 It is not surprising, says The Times In commenting on the entry of the Red Army into Berlin, that Goebbels has to threaten with death those Germans who want to hoist the white flags.

No such warnings were necessary when Moscow and Leningrad stood in immediate danger or when the invaders penetrated into Stalingrad's streets.

Under den Linden is under artillery fire, the dreaded Bolshevik is at all around the capital, so it is little wonder the Berliners' resolution to fight to the end is drained by their leaders.

Enough of the urban area has been taken to make a siege unnecessary. Russian attack is already passing into the phase of mopping up

At any moment the Soviet flag may be flying over the Brandenburger Tor and Hitler's Chancellery.

Fall of Berlin, therefore, must be accounted an outstanding portent Much of its military importance has been nullified now. Its war factories have been wrecked by British bombers, its roads and railways battered, but it is still the strategic centre of some importance

Vancouver Bandit Is Shot to Death

VANCOUVER, April 24 (CP)—A bold-un man identified as Malcolm McDonald, 38, no fixed address, was accidentally shot to death tonight by his own gun a few minutes after he held up the cashier of the Dominion Theatre, in downtown Vancouver, and escaped with $200

McDonald was shot as he was waiting in the lobby of the theatre for the cashier and doorman to take the money from the box office to a safe vault He dropped the document, a bag containing the money from the cashier and then dashed out the front entrance

Detectives Sergeant and Max Heater, both of Vancouver, who were just leaving the theatre, noticed the man and gave chase. They caught up with him less than a block away and while struggling with him two city police constables A J Breen and Ken Ross arrived on the scene and joined in the chase

While Breen was attempting to take the bandit's gun away, it accidentally discharged McDonald died a few minutes later.

Neutrals Warned

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—A warning to neutral countries against offering sanctuary to perpetrators of Nazi war atrocities was issued by the United States House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee today.

The committee approved for floor consideration a resolution making it United States policy to go into neutral countries requesting extraditions, in pursuit and capture of war criminals

Berlin in Flames From One End to the Other—30,000 Nazis Plan Surrender

NEW YORK, April 24 Lowell Thomas, NBC news commentator, flew into Berlin today and broadcast in a broadcast from Paris that the German capital was in flames from one end to the other" with the exception of the Potsdam area

Thomas said he flew over the city in a reconnaissance plane, with another Spitfire escort, at 8,000 feet.

"Just below an artillery duel was going on," he said "Heavy guns on both sides were going full-tilt, with dense clouds of smoke rolling over Berlin

"Potsdam and the southern side of Berlin seemed comparatively undamaged, while the rest of Berlin is blazing from end to end"

Thomas said that on the way back from Berlin he saw an estimated 30,000 to 30,000 Germans in the Elbe River between the Russians and Americans toward the United States lines and added that "when the Germans reach our lines it will be the largest mass surrender of the war He said the rumoured new Nazi Wurstein, had been spotted yesterday by American pilots and was expected to reach American lines shortly

Berlin Sticks To Story That Hitler There

PARIS, April 24 (AP) Adolf Hitler apparently has abandoned his crumbling capital, Berlin, for the hideous safety of Berchtesgaden

The Hamburg radio boasted the Fuehrer remained in Berlin, but it was reported as hardly likely that Hitler would have stocked his southern redoubt, moved the Government there and ordered his henchmen and S.S. Elite Guard members to rally there unless he expected to make it his final stand

Dispatches from Moscow said the Red Army had orders to take Hitler alive if possible (if he was found in Berlin. The Moscow radio indicated a belief Hitler had gone to Bavaria to gather the remaining Nazi faithful and organize a "chilly, grim army

"Hitler received the Hitler Youth leader Arthur Axmann, at his secret headquarters, a few days ago" said this Russian broadcast, and ordered him to recruit all over 30,000 children who are to be brought to the Bavarian redoubt and there trained and organized into death battalions This recruit-

Germans Race To Surrender To Americans

WITH THE UNITED STATES FIRST ARMY, April 24 (Reuters)—Thousands of Germans existing tried to flee across the American lines today as Marshal Ivan P Konev's Russian troops neared a junction with the United States First Army along the Middle River Elbe.

A craft officer said at Headquarters tonight noon, P.D.T. there had been no line-up yet of the two Allies on the First Army front

Aerial observers reported sighting a column which they believed to be Russian only a short distance from advanced American positions Column was moving in the direction will follow tomorrow and probably will set several points as the Russians move in strength toward the positions the Americans have been holding

Most of the German Army units hope to surrender to the Americans who they believe prisoners have will give them better treatment

Released Allied prisoners of war reached American lines in hundreds. French British and American prisoners released in two days made every type of vehicle wheelbarrows, carts, bicycles horse-drawn wagons and even cows and mules

The German civilians ran into pickets at American front line outposts

To Keep All Nazis Interned Till End

LONDON, April 24 (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill disclosed in the House of Commons today that the Allies intend to keep all German internalized and non-commissioned officers and known Nazis of prominence interned until any guerrilla warfare exists in Germany

Asked if he would make such a recommendation to the Allies the Prime Minister replied "I can never regard that the Allies ever had any other intention."

Planes Smash Transport on Way to Berlin

More Than 200 Nazi Vehicles Destroyed

LONDON, April 24 (AP)—Rocket-firing R.A.F. planes blasted a double line of German motor transports streaming eastward into Berlin today, while heavy R.A.F. Lancaster bombers pounded the traffic headed for Denmark

Mosquito fighter-bomber planes joined with R.A.F. 2nd Tactical Air Force planes in hitting enemy airfields in Northwestern Germany, the Air Ministry offered announcement today. Jet propelled Mosquitos made their debut against German buzz-bombs last night and had been used against ground targets

One squadron leader said all that he saw of the German airfields appeared to be streaming back into the German capital. He said he saw "at least 15 miles west of Berlin, he said he saw the road jammed with a double column of German vehicles Every shot was a bull-eye, he said. You couldn't miss. We saw one truck alone destroyed 120 pieces of transport in a single shot

First count placed the total bag for the day at well over 200 German vehicles

Four motor Lancasters made an attack on railways at Bad Oldesloe 26 miles northeast of Hamburg, to hinder German efforts to move troops into Denmark Rail routes in the same general area were raked during the night by one of the largest forces of Mosquito bombers ever dispatched Mosquitos attacked 22 northbound trains, shot down in Kiel harbor and along the Baltic coast and Scandinavian enemy troops on the north side of Bremen.

Fiery Battle of Berlin Rages on Rooftops, in Streets and Buildings

31,000 Square Miles Held by Germans

A N approximation based on official announcements and news reports indicates that to date the Allied armies on both the Eastern and Western Fronts have occupied roughly 150,000 square miles of Germany proper, leaving 31,000 square miles still in German hands. The Canadian Press reports

Two Russian Armies Join Inside Capital a Half Burning City Taken—Escape Cut Off

LONDON, April 24 (AP)—Two Russian armies joined forces inside Berlin today and seized half the area of the burning city where Hitler's capital was said to "practically surrounded" and entirely cut off from outside aid

A Moscow communique announced the junction of the First Ukrainian and the First White Russian armies in co-ordinated drives which captured the Schlesischer (Silesian) Railway Station and all the districts north and east of it, within a mile of the centre of the city at Unter den Linden

The First White Russian forces of Marshal G K Zhukov simultaneously executed a wheeling movement north and northwest which severed one of two railways leading from Berlin to the Northwest German pocket, and came within two and one-half miles of the other, Moscow disclosed.

The Russian account showed British still lacking some 16 miles of being surrounded. The German-controlled Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau said, however, there was only a three-mile corridor left on the northwest, and it could not be used because it was blanketed by Soviet heavy artillery fire. No more reinforcements can be sent in, said this report which came via Oslo and Stockholm

Even by Russian official account, total isolation of Berlin was near, the Moscow communique announcing Marshal Ivan S. Koneva's First Ukrainians had thrust up from the south to a point four miles due east of Potsdam

Junction of the two Russian armies inside Berlin's limits completed encirclement of an area 60 miles long

Situation in Italy Critical For Enemy

ROME, April 24 (CP)—Allied troops stormed across the Po River today less than 24 hours after the announcement that they had reached this greatest river in Northern Italy, a special communique said it was erased at various points between Ferrara and Bondeno in the sector of the Allied Fifth and British Eighth armies.

At the same time three great cities of Northern Italy—Leghorn, Modena and Ferrara—fell as a 125-mile German defence line across the Italian Peninsula was shattered

The German position in Italy appeared critical tonight. Allied planes and armor cut to pieces German troops and transport

A security blackout prohibited dissemination of the Po crossings, but the Fifth and Eighth armies were known to be at the river along a 50-mile front from Ferrara west to Bagnacavallo.

The important Italian naval base of La Spezia on the Ligurian Sea fell to Fifth Army troops. Other units of the Fifth took Modena, a highway junction 22 miles north of west of Bologna, and on the eastern flank Eighth Army troops captured Ferrara, key communications point three miles south of the Po

Italian troops of the Eighth Army including the Garibaldi Partisan Brigade, captured the town of Cardigeon, south of the Po River mouth and 25 miles due east of Ferrara, north to the Adriatic Sea

Capture of 40,000 prisoners from two German armies, with a 30 per cent of the offensive completed of the 25 divisions represents a weakening of German strength which may make a further stand by the enemy in Italy impossible

TO SEE HORRIBLE CAMPS

LONDON, April 24 (Reuters)—On the invitation of General Eisenhower Allied Supreme Commander, a delegation including 12 members of the War Office Parliament, and Allied military officers will leave England on Thursday to investigate atrocities in German concentration camps

Capture Three More Islands

GUAM, April 25 (Wednesday) (AP)—United States infantry captured an important Japanese position on high ground on the western flank of the ferry battle line on Southern Okinawa yesterday

Marines, meanwhile, landed on three more small islands of Okinawa, securing them quickly.

Japanese resistance continued heavy during the sixth day of the all-out offensive on Southern Okinawa, where the enemy has lost more than 11,000 killed since the invasion April 1

The high ground seized was west of Jahin village on the island's west coast. Troops in that sector were bearing down on the Machinato airfield, several hundred yards away

There was no reported progress on the eastern flank or in the battle-ringed central sector of the rugged line

New islands invaded by the marines were Yaeschi and Kouri, north of the Motobu Peninsula which juts off the northwestern coast of Okinawa, and Ie, west of Kitchin Peninsula on the east coast

The marines were mopping up Japanese remnants on Yaeschi. They landed yesterday on the other two islands were unopposed

Pacific First ships poured heavy gunfire into the Japanese positions, sealing up numerous caves and blasting bloodhouse pillboxes and other elaborate defences

America's fleet, meanwhile, pushed preparations for immediate conversion of the captured northern three-fourths of Okinawa into a base for operations against Japan.

No Relief for Taxpayer In New British Budget

To Spend $25,000,000,000—Hint Has Cut Soon to Come—Living Costs to Go Up

LONDON, April 24 (CP)—A $25,000,000,000 "Victory" Budget, providing no major relief from the burden, despite sizable reductions in estimated total expenditures and an over-all deficit, was submitted to Parliament today by Sir John Anderson

But the Chancellor of the Exchequer limited little were likely to be substantial tax relief soon before long although a high rate of taxation necessarily would be continued for many years after VE-Day. The cuts might be contained in another Budget, Anderson said, which he announced before the end of the year. Germany was still a major enemy time to the early Summer

The Joint, second Budget, the capital of the war, emphasized that Britain alone the war began has spent 127,000,000,000 pounds ($509,000,000) for war and civil services and had met the bad figure of 40 per cent from current revenue.

In the last fiscal year ended March 31 Britain had better than average with total expenditures exceeding 6,000,000,000 pounds for the British-time, 12,825,000,000 more than revenues and 53 per cent of expenses met from current revenue.

The total national debt, however, now is greater than ever before greater than after the First Great War and more than 25 times as great as after the Napoleonic wars. While it seemed likely that home consumer goods would be in demand prices would be higher at the end of this war than in the two previous wars the upward personal dividend of the average

Victoria Cross for South Africa Flyer

LONDON, April 24 (Reuters)—Flying Officer Cross for the South African Air Force in this war was awarded posthumously today to 20-year-old Flying Officer Cross.

He was master bomber during the attack on Pforzheim, near Karlsruhe, Germany, on March 23 when his plane had been hit and he was ordered to bail out. He refused to bail out and was killed when the plane crashed.

Cross was the 12th Victoria Cross of the war. Eight have been won by Canadians.

German Prisoners Exceed 1,000,000

PARIS, April 24 (AP)—The Allied bag of German prisoners during the past month has exceeded 1,000,000 mark with six more days left in the month. From April 1 to 22 inclusive 994,78 prisoners were taken, it is estimated that more than 30,000 were captured yesterday.

Island Bond Total Near $2,000,000

Vancouver Island subscriptions on the second day of the Fourth Victory Loan campaign were nearly $700,000 ahead of the corresponding days of the Fourth last Autumn.

Official figures last night showed a total of $1,714,400, compared with $1,067,200 on the Seventh Loan second day.

All units on the Island except the Saanich, Esquimalt rural and Gulf Islands had shown improvements in advance of the same day in the Seventh Loan. Greater Victoria at $812,200 was $280,500 ahead of the last loan.

Arrangements Complete For Petain's Surrender

PARIS, (April 24 (AP). — Marshal Petain entered Switzerland today—his 89th birthday—and tonight the French government announced that formal arrangements had been completed for returning the Vichy Chief of State to France to stand trial on charges of treason.

Premier Charles Nicoud, of the Swiss Federal Council, said the Swiss authorities would not be permitted to witness Petain's surrender to the French Government.

Two of Petain's Vichyite leaders—Pierre Laval and Marcel Deat—sought sanctuary in neutral countries but were refused. Laval, Chief of Government, appeared at the frontier of Liechtenstein. Deat, Petain's Minister of State and Labor and ardent pro-German, was denied admission by the Swiss.

King Leopold of Belgium, who surrendered to the Germans in May, 1940, was expected to arrive in Switzerland soon, indicating the crumbling Nazi regime was permitting many of its famous hostages to leave—possibly through some understanding with the Allied Governments.

General de Gaulle once sentenced to death in absentia by a Vichy military court in Clermont-Ferrand, may testify against Petain.

The French communique announced Petain would be summoned to appear for his treason trial May 17 but the proxy hearing would be postponed then to give him time to prepare his defense.

The marshal and his wife arrived at the Swiss-Austrian frontier shortly before 8 a.m. He remained in his car during the hour-long frontier proceedings but waved to the crowd of Swiss and French journalists.

Petain's train then proceeded to Saint Cualien, where he is staying until he leaves for France.

FRANCE ELECTRIFIED BY HIS RETURN

France was electrified by the news of the marshal's arrival in Switzerland and by the fact he was to stand trial.

Few Frenchmen had ever expected the former hero of Verdun, whose troops successfully stood off 80 of Germany's best divisions in the First Great War and who made immortal the famous slogan "They shall not pass," would ever stand in the docket.

It was known the prosecution would attempt to prove Petain was in communications with the Germans even before the war.

General de Gaulle was present at the stormy session in June, 1940, when Petain announced he was going to sue for an armistice. The marshal was adamant when General de Gaulle and other military leaders urged the French Army still was capable of holding a large section of France, especially the Britain Coast.

Trial of the aged Petain will split the French people into antagonistic sections. The controversy already has begun. There are thousands of Frenchmen — particularly young people trained almost to adore him in the Vichy-regulated schools — who reject the accusations against him. And there are thousands of others who expressed it that way: "Why didn't he have the grace to die and spare France this last ordeal?"

CLAIMS DRAGGED INTO GERMANY BY TROOPERS

BERNE, April 24 (AP) — He eyes filled with tears and declaring he had been a prisoner of the Nazis, Marshal Petain, once the hero of France, entered Switzerland today ready to accompany himself to the French for trial on charges of high treason.

"The fact that today on my 89th birthday I find myself on Swiss territory is the most beautiful birthday present I could have hoped for," said the marshal, adding: "Long live Switzerland."

"I was dragged into Germany by S.S. Troopers," the Marshal continued, "and I have always regarded my stay at Sigmaringen as real involuntary imprisonment."

The Petain party was accompanied to the Swiss border by a carload of German S.S. Troopers who turned back at the border.

In the marshal's party were a daughter and son-in-law and General Marie Eugene Debes, commander of the French First Army in the Franco-Prussian War and a close confidant of Petain.

Americans before the Russians catch them.

The United State Third Army led the sprint toward Austria with a 25-mile drive from Linz to the vicinity of Aristarfeld, 35 miles from the border city of Passau. At the extreme slow end of the line, French Pilsn, and, United States Seventh Army moved southward to shoulder toward the Alpine footpills that should Munich.

Army moved southward to shoulder toward the Alpine footpills that should Munich.

Allied bridgehead was formed. Third Army troops, north of Passau were reported to slip from the east, the French, at Althausen, north of Lake Constance, just 20 miles from Austria's eastern tip were ready to advance on from their side.

Allied bridgehead, like the rest of the world, was awaiting an official announcement that American and Russian troops, last reported barely 30 miles apart between Dresden and Leipzig, had joined forces and split Germany. Some correspondents believed a prearranged junction already had been made.

L'Agence Francaise de Presse quoting "reports from Moscow," said American and Soviet troops had met at Eilenburg, on the Mulde River nine miles northeast of Leipzig.

Ulm, second city of Wurttemberg and important communications center on the Danube, fell to the combined assault of the American Seventh and French First Armies.

The United States Third Army, continuing its drive southward from the boundary of Czecho-Slovakia, battled within four miles of the traffic hub of Regensburg and within 33 miles of the Austrian border. The Third's armored forces were closing in on Regensburg from three sides and nearer the rampart of the enemy's southern "fortress."

Infantry sped into the town of Wurzenberg and Nittenau, 14 miles northeast of Regensburg. Other columns drove into Bruchern 12 miles northwest of the city, and to the vicinity of Rozenburg eight miles to the west.

An armored division reached the vicinity of Arnstorf, 40 miles east of Regensburg and 13 miles north of the Danube. It was there that Third Army forces were within 35 miles of Austria and about 93 miles due north of Hitler's Berchtesgaden hide-out.

This was the general situation along the front tonight.

British Second Army forces in the north pressed their siege on Bremen. A field dispatch said the city probably would be taken only after it had been destroyed. Image by house.

The British 52nd Lowland Division captured Achtgrim, less than three miles from Bremen's eastern outskirts. The 43rd Division northwest of Verden was driving into an enemy salient guarding Bremen on the northeast.

There was no report of prisoners by British forces drawn up before the other northern port of Hamburg.

The U.S. Ninth Army Armored Div. fan west to take control into Chem, rail centre 28 miles northeast of Regensburg, while infantry advanced 18 miles to the Bomerse area, 17 miles northeast of Regensburg. Other infantry entered Beuchbach, 13 miles west of Regensburg and 62 miles north of Munich.

A United States Seventh Army division crossed the Danube at Ehingen southwest of Ulm after repulsing that city of 80,000 with the assistance of French forces. An armored division expanded its bridgehead across the Danube near Donauwerth, 50 miles northwest of Munich, on ten miles wide and six deep and began probing the foothills of the Alps.

Fanning out along the north bank of the Danube a Seventh Army armored division crushed Ertach, six miles southwest of Ulm. Polsingen, 38 miles north of Augsburg, was captured by infantry.

Twenty American and French infantry divisions and eight armored divisions were participating in the offensive to crush the enemy's southern redoubt. Munich was being cleared to a minimum no-man's-land, under than 270,000 Allied fighting men.

Southeast of Stuttgart the Seventh Army captured a V-bomb plant covering 80 acres which had operated up to last Friday with 2,500 slave labors.

Still Debating Polish Issue on Eve of Opening of Conference

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24 (CP). — Poland remained tonight a question mark over the San Francisco Conference, which opens tomorrow with the object of trending an organization to end the threat of future wars.

the four sponsoring Governments have agreed to support specific proposals that international dispages be seized "with due regard for principles of justice and international law."

A statement to this effect was read to reporters by State Secretary Stettinius, chairman of the American delegation and temporary presiding officer of the congress. The statement also included references to justice and international law originated with China.

Russia's request for recognition of the revamped Lublin-Warsaw Government as the conference stage of Poland was being discussed behind closed doors. Spokesmen for the delegations from the 46 United Nations said, however, a mandatory compromise would be reached.

There seemed every reason to believe the British Commonwealth would take the lead in admitting Soviet Russia and the Ukrainian and United Nations to be represented here, even if it should give Russia two extra votes.

If that concession is granted, Russia demands for the recognition of Poland might be withdrawn pending further representation of the political interests of that country. Such a compromise would remove one of the great foreseeable barrier against unanimity of the conference. Leaders of delegation spokesmen are united in declaring must not be permitted to the short of achieving its objective.

BRITAIN WILL BACK RUSSIA ON VOTES

Clement Attlee deputy prime minister of Britain, brought the matter of three votes for Russia to the floor tonight, contending it was fair to the United Nations conference today. They carried to San Francisco with them the delicate Polish issue they were unable to solve after two nights and a day of discussion here.

The talks among Foreign Secretary Eden, Russian Secretary Stettinius and Foreign Commissar Molotov were broadcast last night to invade Foreign Minister T. V. Soong.

These four, representing the sponsoring powers of the World Security Conference, discussed "arrangements" for that meeting after the White House formally announced the delay in the Polish talks.

Thus announcement, meeting that President Truman knew had conferred with Mr. Molotov, said that by view of the limited time before tomorrow's conference opening—set for 4.30 p.m. PDT—"and in order to permit Mr. Molotov to consult with his Government . . . the discussion in regard to the Polish situation will be continued by the three foreign secretaries at San Francisco."

Seemingly the issue over Polish representation at the United Nations meeting . . . had reached the point where approval by the chiefs of state was needed at least Mr Stalin's approval.

Deepest secrecy cloaked all the pre-conference talks here

MOLOTOV TWICE VISITS PRESIDENT TRUMAN

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP) — Mr. Molotov twice visited President Truman today, the White House announced tonight.

Mr. Attlee replied to the question of whether Britain would support the Soviet three-vote demand with the words, "Oh, yes."

MOLOTOV TWICE VISITS PRESIDENT TRUMAN

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP) — Mr. Molotov twice visited President Truman today, the White House announced tonight.

Mr. Attlee replied to the question of whether Britain would support Russia on this point.

Later it was learned Canada, India, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa intended to follow suit.

United States delegates showed no alarm at Russia's request for three votes—although the unspoken wish was that it be withdrawn in the interests of harmony. Nor did they seem disturbed any more than they have been in the past that the British Commonwealth has a combined power of six votes in the assembly.

The United States view is that the Commonwealth nations are, by function, independent, and that they are not to be expected to vote as a bloc.

The main importance of the assembly votes is that they help determine the financial changes of membership of smaller nations on the 11-member Security Council, the heart of the proposed world organization.

Declaring as an extraordinary news conference that "we do not come here as professionals but as citizen realists," Mr. Attlee said his country was determined to gain security and would take the best solution it could get

Every delegation at this conference," he said, "should bear in mind the power of modern weapons. Anyone who has lived as we have lived under bombs, flying bombs and rockets would feel they had a powerful stimulant for security."

Esquimalt Citizens Plan War Memorial

Decision to purchase the Bryden estate as a war memorial playground was reached last night during a representative meeting of Esquimalt groups at Lampson Street School.

The Bryden estate lies between Lampson Street School and the High School on Head Street, and contains about six acres. Plans include development of tennis courts and other sports facilities on the property.

A committee headed by Reve Thomas Hadfield, was empowered to inquire into the purchase of the estate.

The meeting was called by the Parent-Teacher Association, and the proposal received unanimous support from organizations, including the Municipal Council, I.O.D.E., Catholic Women's League, Community Centre and the High School Students' Council. Reeve Hadfield and Councillor J. A. Ellis were among the principal speakers.

Baguio Soon In Hands of U.S. Forces

Bombers Hit Again at Formosa and Saigon

MANILA, April 25 (Wednesday) (AP)—Smashed and bloody Baguio, which the Japanese are making one of the Pacific War's most desperate last stands, was all but in American hands today.

One column, driving down from the Northwest, was within 2,500 yards of the city. The column was consolidating for a final push, meeting only slight resistance.

Other troops, pushing in from the West, seized a 500-foot tunnel on the Asin-Baguio road Sunday after two days of hard fighting.

Mount Mirador, mile-high site of a Government observatory overlooking Baguio Plateau, was also in American hands.

A communique announced that American troops on Mindanao, only other remaining Japanese stronghold in the Philippines, were driving north and eastward toward Davao from captured Kabacan, meeting only ineffective resistance.

Philippine-based bombers struck again at Formosa and raided the Japanese-held naval base at Saigon, French Indo-China. Installations at Swatow and Hainan, China, were also attacked

Nine Japanese freighters and a number of smaller craft were sunk or damaged in these raids and in air attacks on The Netherlands East Indies.

On Cebu Island, Americans made a shore-to-shore thrust, landing near Daves, nine miles north of Cebu City. The landing cut off Japanese fleeing northward.

The communique said the Japanese force on Mindanao, believed to number some 50,000 troops, has so yet been unable to concentrate."

Supporting advances in Northern Luzon, centring on Belete Pass and Baguio, attack and fighter bombers dropped more than 250 tons on Japanese positions.

20,000 ON STRIKE

DETROIT, April 24 (AP) — Packard Motor Car Company plant and three factories of Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Company were closed by strikes today, making 20,000 workers idle. Reversal of a dispute over dismissal of 13 workers caused some 5,500 Kelsey-Hayes employees to walk out. Some 15,000 workers were idle at the Packard plant because of a dispute over the number of engines to be inspected on each shift.

ing is going on under the guise of mass evacuation."

The Stockholm newspaper Tidningen said Hitler was in Berlin Sunday night, and indicated belief in reports he would stay there to the finish. Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler also was said there Sunday, the paper added.

The Swiss press said Hitler had gone to Salzburg and interpreted Nazi protestations that he had remained in Berlin as "a plot to facilitate Hitler's vanishing without a trace". The Swiss also expressed the theory if he left, a double to remain behind and die a heroic legend would accrue to Hitler.

LONDON, April 24 (CP) — The Hamburg radio declared tonight the whole population of Berlin was engaged in the battle for the capital, and that Adolf Hitler himself was making the decisions.

"They know that the Fuehrer is among them," said the propaganda broadcast.

Gauleiter Goebbels promised "forces of considerable strength are being brought up to help the defenders of the city."

The Hamburg broadcast said Goebbels was in Berlin with Hitler.

"In almost hourly discussions," the Nazi radio said, "the chief of the German General Staff and the commander of Berlin are reporting to the Fuehrer himself about the necessary decisions as to how the available forces are being used. He decided the distribution of reinforcements and employment of troops . . . All those who saw him agree that he is full of vitality and the will to master the situation."

MOSCOW, April 24 (AP) — Panic and demoralization are spreading in the centre of Berlin, with fighting taking place among the Nazi defenders, eyewitness accounts reaching Moscow said today.

"It's hell in there," a German civilian was quoted by the correspondent for Izvestia. "Shells are falling all over the place and there is fighting among the officers and men."

The civilian declared a divisional commander shot his driver when the latter suggested capitulation.

Red Army and Polish troops have pushed deep enough and captured enough streets and avenues to set up a traffic control system, from advices said.

Red Army girls, in their customary role of traffic directors, were standing at numerous corners in suburbs directing the flow of trucks moving in and out of the city.

The correspondent for Red Star told of battling down the avenues leading to the Wilhelmstrasse, and of white flags fluttering from windows along the Berlinerstrasse. On another nearby street 600 Germans surrendered, he said.

Fires were reported raging in the Weissensee district, now behind the Red Army.

Izvestia said some German boys of 13 to 15 years had been thrown into the battle.

German street cars carried loads of cobblestones to add to barricades inside the city.

fiction would be needed for years despite the Government's best efforts.

He introduced a limited increase in the British cost of living and third continued voluntary savings. To avoid dangerous inflation, which is a spiralling price before supplies of civilian goods could be markedly increased.

Britain's mounting losses caused by the end of last year exceeded £3,000,000,000 (approximately would reach at least £4,000,000,000 as the country continued the war against Japan and obtained imports of vital food and raw materials to re-establish industry on a peacetime footing and remain her world markets.

For the current fiscal year Sir John budgeted for sales of credit (Mutual) £1,500,000,000 and estimated that total expenditures would be £5,285,000,000 (or about £600,000,000 below that of 1944-45).

He announced a minor change in the excess profits tax set up to benefit the small business (than by raising the exemption limit and by lifting the rate of tax due on earnings in excess of the new exemption at twenty).

He left unchanged the standard rate of which is ten shillings in the pound. He left the income tax and the tax on tobacco and in the manufacture in Britain beer.

He said he had hoped that there would be started with the 1945-46 year means to improve the arrangements for abatement of the tax on personal earnings (using the form of a new tax agreement with the United States which is subsequent).

The treaty covers all income tax for the two peoples, and provides some provisions in regard to gain derived from capital gains and income from employment, he said.

It was especially designed to help those part of industry which in the future will be vital to the welfare of this country that concerned with our exports.

Will Continue to Make Ditty Bags

CALGARY, April 24 (CP)—Delegates to the National Conference of the Navy League of Canada being held in Calgary, decided today the league would attempt to send 120,000 ditty bags to merchant seamen and naval ratings this year, the same figure as that adopted last year. Mrs. A. H. Rogers, chairman of the ditty bag committee, said 1,000,000 had been decided distribution of the bags would continue in the same manner but recommended they be of a uniform size and that articles in them be wrapped as gifts.

At the suggestion of J. M. McLeod, Sydney, N.S., delegates said they were in favor of asking donors to include a card or letter in the bag for the recipient, to make the gift "more personal".

Mrs. E. K. Morton, Vegreville, Alta., war services convener for the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, reported her organization had supplied 6,066 ditty bags to the Navy League last year, and thousands of sweaters had been knitted for distribution to seamen. Members of her organization had received many letters of thanks, and these "were a great encouragement to continue."

On the first Sunday after "V-E" Day, if arrangements can be completed, every Sea Cadet in the Dominion will be required to turn out with his unit for a drumhead service and to observe the day in a solemn thanksgiving.

Suggested at the Sea Cadet conference in Hamilton, Ont., recently the plan was ratified by delegates.

Pays Tribute To Navy

Had it not been for the Royal Navy and Merchant Navy, Malta could not have been held against the enemy, Lt.-Gen. Sir William Dobbie told cadets at Royal Canadian Naval College last night.

"We of the army and we of Malta are very grateful to the sea services and have tremendous admiration for the men who brought us our supplies and ammunition. Speaking to future officers of the R.C.N., I want you to know what a grand job they did," Sir William declared.

He was accompanied by Lady Dobbie, Mrs. W. C. Woodward, Dr Edith M. Reid, former principal of Branksome Hall School for Girls, Toronto, also a guest at Government House, and Lt.-Cmdr. Hew Pateson, R.C.N.V.R.

San Francisco Conference

The international conference that opens at San Francisco today is fraught with the hopes of mankind. On it and its deliberations will be focused the eyes of the free world, and on its results may well rest the future peace and concord of all free peoples. At the same time it must be borne in mind that this conference is not an end but a beginning. Like all beginnings it is bound to show many differences, some imperfections and no doubt some disappointments.

This need not be fatal to our hopes for an enduring organization that will keep the peace and prevent the resurrence of the conflicts that have rent the entire globe their past five years. It is the history of all such movements aimed at the betterment of mankind, was to wit the League of Nations, nobly received but imperfectly executed.

In the battract all may agree with what is desirable and necessary—it is when it comes to planning the details settling the machinery that will give effect to the desires, that difficulties multiply. Yet the seed imperfectly sown often results in a mature harvest. While the San Francisco conference may be the beginning of a new organization, it is in reality the fruit of the first attempt made twenty-five years ago to form a league through which nations could live in amity and peace.

One advantage the present conference has is that the need for an international organization for peace has been brought home so terribly to all nations. None of those represented at San Francisco can have escaped the terrible implications of modern warfare. None in future can hope to escape from the weapons that narrow the world in destruction. In fare of this, smaller objections, such as surrender of some sovereign rights cannot be allowed to block the path to peace.

The one thing needful to insure the success of the conference is the unalitcable desire and purpose of all peace-loving peoples to avoid the horror of future wars. To achieve this end faith, patience and tolerance must be unfaltering. With this in view smaller differences of opinion and interest may well be submerged even at the cost of national pride. Only with unfaltering faith and purpose can the world usher in the reign of peace.

A Good Start

An excellent start has been made in the Lights Victory Loan campaign on Vancouver Island. With the campaign today showing a total of $2,210,700 as against $1,000,000 for the Seventh Loan, the best expectations for the opening would seem to have been surpassed. Noticeable on this achievement is the record of the Courtenay District which with a jump from $15,[illegible] to [illegible] to $152,850 now. It is doubtful whether this fenfold increase can be excelled anywhere in the Dominion. The neighboring Comox Valley and Cowichan Division also showed a fine increase of approximately $21,000 and [illegible] respectively up its reputation as a leader with $104,400 as against $76,850 for the last loan.

In fact all Up-Island districts set a fine example, while their week satisfactory returns in the Greater Victoria and Saanich areas. All this is as it should be. Before the campaign opened fears were expressed that with victory so near, or rather close at hand, subscribers would feel less need to invest and there would be a falling off. In reality public seem to have reached the wonder conclusion that this is really a critical stage in the war and there must be no slackening of effort. The rumour who, having arrived himself, will through all the earlier stages, lags in the last lap of the race would be endangering all that had gone before. In actual fact he usually makes his best spurt under the stimulus of victory in sight.

Even of the war was to end tomorrow vast sums would be required to bring our fighting forces home and resume them to civilian life, without mentioning the cost of pensioning the disabled and caring for the wounded and sick. The building of conversion of war plants to civilian use and public employment to take up the slack will also be imperative demands. The result depends many well on the public in Victory Bonds. It is asking to provide himself with civilian employment when his present job shall cease.

The Weakness of Japan

It now begins to seem the lightning force with which Japan struck in the first few months of active war as like that of the bees who exhausts its sting in the hive with the first lap of the race. When Singapore fell when Burma was overrun and India invaded when the Philippines and the Dutch East Indies were captured with such speed, many people had fearful forebodings of what war with Japan might mean. Indeed it was common talk that Japan would prove a tougher foe than Germany itself.

The progress of the war within the last year must have dissipated that idea. One by one Japan's ill-gotten gains are being forced from her, and the most fanatical resistance has been unable to stop the progress of the Allied forces. The Japanese air force has been badly shattered and a good part of her boasted navy lies at the bottom of the sea.

It has often been said that Japan's cleverness consists mostly of mimicry, and the progress of the war goes to prove it. While the Germans have been constantly forging more deadly weapons those of the Japanese have seemed at a standstill. Their highly armored Zero planes have proved no match for Amer-

Harbor Wanted

By Frank M. Kelly

Thirty years ago Victoria had a case for a harbor and the businessmen of the city at that time pressed it in such a forceful way that we should state permanice—manner that the Dominion government of the Dominion set about preparing plans to create a man-made port in the southern end of Vancouver Island when would, in most respects, compare gone down with comparative ease. In spite of intense training their marksmanship seems to have been generally defective.

We all remember reading reports of the gruelling training of the Japanese land forces and how they were urged by their officers to "speed with which to visting white men could not keep up. Yet even this in the long run probably had a weakening effect. It was something like that of a racehorse who takes the "silk" out of his system by over-training. In fact it is highly questionable whether the Japanese in their overcrowded islands, fed on rice, vegetables and fish, can have the stamina of European troops. It would be an interesting physiological test to prove it.

At the same time and for only to suppose that the Japanese are nearly finished yet. In China, Malaya and the East Indies, they still hold large territories and great strategic strongholds, such as Singapore and Hongkong. Nor does their Japanism seem to be yet burned out. Still, while Japanism can win a battle or seldom win a war. Before the years are reason, determination, skillful leadership and superior strength it will finally and irretrievably go down.

The Epic of Malta

Malta's heroic defence has been brought home to the people of Victoria within the past few days as never before. It has amplified vividly the epic of gallantry related by the leader of that trying ordeal, Lt.-Gen. Sir William Dobbie. This little spot in the Mediterranean, he pointed out, was the most densely populated country in the world. As such it was unable to supply its requirements, not alone of food, but also of other needs. Everything had to be brought in, and to bring it in under such circumstances tested men's courage and endurance to the utmost.

It was because of this that General Dobbie gave high praise to the merchant marine and naval vessels that supplied the deficiency. The most dire and perilous time was after the occupation of Sicily and North Africa by the German forces, before 11 Allanne. For months each day enemy bombers came three times a day. Under such fire the danger of bringing in supplies grew ever more deadly. On one convoy of 14 ships only three reached port. Yet, all was taken by the men as a matter of course. Three thousand times was the little island bombed, but still the forces stood.

Throughout all this the people of Malta carried on their daily activities. With their school buildings destroyed the teachers held classes in the open air, the newspapers rolled from the presses, and in the shops goods were bought and sold. Conversation turned on the buildings of Valetta, but the spirit of the people could not be destroyed.

Humbly and unreserly Sir William tendered to the inspiration he had received through an unbroken faith in the help of Almighty power. Without this all material help might well have failed. So said. I cringly he invoked the aid of the Christian spirit on the conference opening in San Francisco as the real solution of the troubles of a war torn world.

The impression left by Sir William on his hearers was that of a conscientious servant of his country and his God and so long as Great Britain retains within her service men of this noble type, she can neither faint or fail.

Seen in Passing

The freakishness of the weather during the past season has by no means been confined to Victoria. We are told that in the Southern Hemisphere while the Australian States of Victoria and New South Wales have suffered their worst drought since 1902. New Zealand farmers have had rains which have flooded their land and in many cases destroyed their crops. Since emigration is fairly constant from year to year, the rain must fall somewhere but we have not yet been able to make it fall on the right places, or at least in the places we desire.

Humanity is a strange mixture of the earthy and ethereal. The poet's spirit may be rapt in the stars, but the buzz of a mosquito will soon bring him down to earth.

Sing, Lovely Birds!

Sing lovely birds and flowers bring
The sweet gifts of your blossoming
That beauty still may win the earth
Where men of greed and strife worth
Look on a quiet enchanting

Nature your fragrance, flowers, sending
To cool and desert, and through Spring
May promise men disease and death
Sing, lovely birds.

Blow, flowers, now, when storming
Is shaved by honey and by hum
While dread machines bu war given birth
Cast but like shadows of their earth.
And there is need of comforting
Sing, lovely birds.

THE ARENA

Sir,—Now that the money has been subscribed, the thing to do now is to get a proper site. As I suggested before, the site should be near transportation and parking space. The plot known as the Porter field, is the best, in fact it can think of at the moment.

It has the advantage of having a fire station near, and is nearer to Esquimalt and Saanich, who have both subscribed heavily to the $50,000. I hear, an auditorium on the rock pile where the proposed site is would cost at least $40,000 to blast out, to say nothing of the damage that would be done.

The Porter field, I repeat, have both subscribed heavily to the $50,000. I think they should have a site nearer to them municipalities rather than a site in the middle of the city. The transportation and parking space at the locality which I have mentioned is far superior to the proposed rock-pile site. I think it is the duty of the aldermen to take the matter up at the next meeting of Gathbly Road and Douglas Street, without jumping at the first proposed site.

GOLF CLUBS WANTED

Sir,—We have received word from Y.M.C.A. Wartime Headquarters in Toronto that a call is being made throughout Canada for golf clubs to be used by men of the three Services. We understand that Victoria has authorized this, and all local Y.M.C.A.s in Canada are acting on similar instructions.

The Y.M.C.A. War Service Committee would be very grateful if we thank all those who made donations of skates for the overseas personnel. We have received a letter to-day that we were able to send from Victoria approximately 100 pairs, many of them attached to boots. We trust that some more co-operation will be given in the matter of golf clubs.

Thanking you for the privilege of publishing this letter.

VICTORY CELEBRATIONS

Sir,—Mr. Churchill in his broadcast speech at Bristol last Friday, begs us to postpone all victory celebrations over any formal or nominal end of the European section of the war, until the real end, complete victory in all respects, which may be two years ahead yet.

His wisdom is clear. This is really one war, not two which we are waiting would it be fair, kind or even good taste to have dancing, madness, parades, drunkenness, and so forth while men are still dying, bearing worse than death for us, while those who love them and have suffered the agonies of suspense or sorrow, while tragic tangles in peace settlements remain yet unsolved, while millions are homeless, starving, and enemy crime still unpunished?

Mr. Churchill's calls to us have always been right, optimism had proved prematurely has always been disaster to our rightfull cause. We British never do our best in moments of excitement confidence, optimism, and pride. We have been at times silence. Surely we owe more to him than any Churchill's earnest plea, postponing all celebrations except those he himself suggests—other thanksgiving—rededication of our lives to honor and service and prayer for those who have fought or are fighting for us. We owe it to our dead, to our selves, to our children, to our future and their fulfillment, we owe it to our again fall out of the world needing us all, or those vast, vast tasks still left to us, place and fervor for our sake.

Battle of Berlin

already had been reached at Eilenburg, nine miles southeast of Leipzig on the disputed zone from the United Nations Army from said no Bulge up had yet been made.

The reported simultaneous disappearance of the Germans from Washington, Moscow and London, which had been made had fired speculation from both sides of the Iron Curtain alone that Hitler's Reich was being quickly and irrevocable.

German radio accounts persisted that Hitler still was in Berlin, despite the report that the Allied sources held to the belief he had fled to his Berchtesgaden retreat.

The Russians were driving towards Berchtesgaden too. The German High Command said Red Army troops had finished railway yards Anstalt in Eisgarn, 90 miles east of Vienna.

Hitler's home, and the Americans were closing in from the northwest.

Moscow announced officially that the drive of the First White Russian Army north and northwest of Berlin had taken the towns of Kremmen, Pistow, Welten and Nauern — 20 miles east of the American Ninth Army positions on the Elbe River west of Berlin.

The First White Russians crossed the Dahme River southeast of Berlin, took the beautiful resort town of Aldershof, Rudow Altglienicke and Bohnsdorf, southeast of Berlin, the First Ukrainians, Moscow announced.

On all fronts Monday the Germans lost 110 tanks, Moscow said.

The German High Command communique, broadcast from a station in Hamburg, said the Germans checked the Russians at indefinite points southeast of Brandenburg, south of Cottbus and north of Frankfurt-on-Oder, southeast of Berlin, and south of Berlin, and on the Elbe River in the eastern and western parts of the city.

Subsequent Hamburg broadcasts said the Russians had reached the outskirts of Spandau, Tempelhof, Waide and Nieder Neuendorf, and the Spandau Wood, approximately three miles of cutting the northwestern suburbs. They said that runs out through Spandau.

The Russians also were in the northern city district of Tiergarten, Lankwitz and Marienfeld, and attacking northeastward towards Prenzlauer Berg, Pankow and Weissensee, the Germans said.

Boys of 19 were helping man the depressed anti-aircraft guns defending these sectors, the broadcast indicated.

Deep inside the ravaged city, "foreigners"—probably slave laborers—crowded the last bridge over the Spree and were being fired upon by German artillery, the Hamburg broadcast maintained while in Berlin, the fanatical Hitler Youth and S.S. Elite Guards—supported by some of a subway station in the Landsberger Allee, which leads to the centre of Berlin.

Russian artillery roared in a mighty crescendo on the outskirts of Berlin, everything in the line of advance, from Berlin's suburbs to the north and stock.

Soviet sappers and trained steel fighters moved forward, backed by tanks, in the wake of the barrage.

The Russians had boasted earlier but Moscow said there were impressive signs of moderation in the defence. The German military radio repeatedly barked out orders that no retreat was to be shot for cowardice, and the Russians said prisoners confirmed that the order had been strictly carried out.

The battle raged on four levels—in the air, where the Luftwaffe fought in vain to stop Russian Ilyushin and Stormovikis; on the rooftops, where Germans of every age fought with rusty weapons; in the hotel in the streets; and in the buildings—both hotels, and in the cellars and underground passageways.

Others from Berlin said bodies in some streets were so big later trains jammed in.

Red Army women directed traffic in the Russian-held sections of Berlin despite the Allies. We all fervent for our sake.

In Northwest Germany meanwhile, the Canadian 4th Armored Division fought hard to retake the Kusten Canal bridgehead, seven miles southeast of Lingen, and another quarter-mile to the north. At the deepest point the 4th Armored nearly four miles north of the canal, a gain of two and one-half miles since the weekend. The bridgehead was two and one-half miles deep and three miles wide.

Southeast of the bridgehead other Canadians recorded gains on three-quarters of a mile. One detachment went into Bergedorf, southeast of Gildenstern and another reached Dingedde.

More than 20,000 German prisoners have been taken by the Canadian Army since the Rhine crossing and the figure is climbing by about 1,000 to 1,500 daily.

Prisoners taken in the Cleve area have been limited by strong German resistance at some points lately, but Wednesday began into surrender.

The entire garrison of 400 at Goch surrendered to Maj. Gen. Leury, and 15 miles east of Groenlo, surrendered last night after offering spirited resistance for a time.

White flags ran up over nearby Appingedam after a slightly less intense fight.

Canada to Seek Opportunity To Influence Security Talks

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24 (CP).—Two Dominion Prime Ministers—Mackenzie King of Canada and Field Marshal Smuts of South Africa—today pleaded at separate press conferences for general acceptance of the fact that the World Security Conference opening tomorrow is not the place to settle all the problems of the present war.

"There is a clear line of demarcation as between what concerns this conference and what will concern the peace conferences which will settle the immediate problems of the next five or ten years," Mr. King told Canadian reporters.

Field Marshal Smuts said the question of a Polish Government acceptable to the United Nations was only a "minor issue" so far as the purposes of the conference were concerned.

To make any categorical statement of aims and intentions at the start, said Mr. King, might prejudice the success of the conference. But, like Field Marshal Smuts, he said he would find no fault with those delegations whose leaders are expressing themselves freely on what they hope to have brought up.

Mr. King dropped in on an off-the-record conference at which his chief adviser, Norman Robertson, Under-Secretary for External Affairs, and Hume Wrong, assistant under-secretary, gave background information to about 40 Canadian correspondents.

Mr. King sat among the correspondents but he was drawn into the discussion after questions about Canada's stand on the proposed veto powers of the Big Five on the proposed security council.

"Canada's influence here will be greater or less, depending on how we can best contribute to the general good," he said.

When he was asked if the Canadian delegation was adopting a "wait-and-see policy," Mr. King replied the policy could be described as one of "being helpful."

The Canadian delegation was not going to jump in with suggestions and proposed amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks agreement for world security merely to go on record. It would await the proper time and quite possibly the course of the conference would be such that no proposals would be necessary.

"This does not indicate that we have no ideas or plans," he continued, "but that we are willing to wait for the right moment to advance them."

INFLUENCE AT RIGHT TIME MIGHT DO MUCH

Canada's influence, if thrown in at the right moment, might be able to do more good than anything else the delegation might attempt by taking a rigid stand at the outset.

"The thing is to get the organization formed and something said now might prejudice the main objective," he said. "That not only is my idea but the idea of the delegation and of Canada as a whole."

The feeling of the Canadian delegation was understood to be that the Bretton Woods Monetary Agreement, the Polish problem and other such matters will not come before the conference as a whole. But Canada is particularly interested in those subjects which are certain to be part of the conference, particularly the place of secondary powers on the Security Council and the place of regional security pacts within the larger security framework.

Field Marshal Smuts said the security conference is the last great battle of the war and the last great victory of the war will be fought here.

"If this conference is not a victory we have larrett fought in vain," he said. "There is no reason to doubt the success of this conference and I see nothing that will prevent the success it should be."

He described the Polish question as "a side issue," adding there was a temptation to magnify minor issues. There was one great issue and that was to make a success of the conference and if the United Nations succeeded in that object nothing else would matter.

"We have worked together for four of the most terrible years of the war and I don't think San Francisco will be a harder battle," he continued. "Our great objective is to keep the great powers together."

He said he was "encouraged" by the changed attitude of the United States, which didn't join the League of Nations after the last war. Everybody had learned that "if we don't hang together we'll hang separately—but there will be hangings."

The fundamental idea of the Red Cross was first set forth in a booklet by Henri Dunant at Geneva

"I want to ask the people if they wish the French-Canadian element to remain as unequivocally united as they were during the (1942) plebiscite (on conscription for overseas service), and if they wish to remain so definitely in order to have our rights and convictions better respected.

Schubert Choral In Fine Concert

The Schubert Club was enthusiastically applauded last night when were heard in recital at the Bruce auditorium by a large audience. Assisting the well-known local choral of women's voices were several artists, and Dr. G. P. Amyot, provincial health officer, spoke at the intermission.

Directed by Frederic King, the women's choir opened the programme with three splendid Schubert numbers, "Serenade," "The Wild Rose" and "To Music." Lois Kenmuir was soloist.

Their interpretation of Verdi's "Miserere" from the opera "Il Trovatore" was well rewarded by the audience. Here and in the last two numbers especially, the choral group showed the results of careful training. "The Two Magicians" (Curran) and "The Piper From Over the Way" (Brahe) were sung with color and verve. In both, the women's voices carried the delightful lilt with ease.

After insistent applause the Schubert Club repeated both the last number and "Ride Out on the Wings of Song" (Bernard).

Dr. T. H. Johns sang the unpretentious "There Is No Death" (O'Hara), "The Yeoman's Wedding Song" and "Sea Fever" to the keen enjoyment of the audience. His voice has a deep vibrant quality, especially noticed in the first.

Gwendoline Harper, guest pianist, was well received in her selections, Sharp Minor was done with feeling. "My Heart Ever Faithful" (Bach) was delightful.

Gwendolyn Brown and Jean Whittingham took solo parts in the "Miserere" with ease. Dorothy Lumby, 56 Moss Street, Born in Elkhorn, Man. Miss Crawford studied at the Pasadena Playhouse and was given a long-term contract with R.K.O. She has appeared in two other pictures.

Starring in Checks

Contributing to the spirited individualism of the California designers are the many Hollywood stars whose personal wardrobes, as well as the costumes worn in pictures, provide a main stimulus. Photographed above is Gloria Grahame, featured in "Behind Love," wearing a casual three-piece suit by Adele, of California. The suit combines shepherd's check and black wool—the double-breasted suit jacket and topcoat in the plaid; the suit in black wool.

Odd Souvenirs

Mildred Abbe, student at Hunter College, New York, is a pilot acquainted with a couple of strange giant insects, as yet unidentified, that were sent to the college by a United States Army medical officer from a Pacific island. The officer, Lieut.-Col. John Gardiner, wrote that the terrifying strangers were very common on the island where he is stationed. They have a tough brown skin and powerful muscular development. The largest one is about seven inches long.

PLANETARY GUIDE FOR WEDNESDAY, APRIL 25, 1945
Keywords for the Day: Poise, substantiality.

Wednesday in General: An underlying trend tends to give substance to the day's activities and all matters of a substantial, useful and effective nature can be advanced somewhat sidetracked and divided in their attention, and it will take patience and perseverance to get "down to cases."

If April 25 Is Your Birthday: Many happy returns! Famous persons born on this date include William Deering, manufacturer of harvesters; David Hale, journalist; L. B. Starrett, inventor and manufacturer of tools; Bernard Ory, author.

Your Year Ahead: Seek to solve problems in connection with necessities, wardrobe, employment and health this year and to focus your attention on major rather than minor objectives. Overlook lesser annoyances and irritations.

SOLDIER'S INSURANCE COVERED BY RELATIVES

Dear Miss Fairfax:

A couple of weeks ago I noticed a letter in your column from a serviceman that fitted my case exactly. The G.I. Joe had a nice little wife but his family couldn't forgive him for marrying her because it cut them out of his insurance, so they began writing that she was having great times with other men. My family tried the same dodge on me, and I wrote them a letter and threatened to break off all communications with them if they ever wrote like that again.

"They apologized and said they were mistaken, but if they really killed half of my friends for them. Any fellow who believes such tales about his wife when he knows he's to be a good girl is unworthy of his uniform.—Another G.I. Joe

It's amazing what insurance will do. It's far more of a family wrecker than "the other woman." A man who allows unfounded gossip—no matter what the source—to fill him with suspicion deserves an A-master. Don't be a Doubting Thomas, even if your great-aunt Jemima tells you your wife is having a grand time on her allowance.

Local Boats Will Fish for Halibut

Three local vessels will leave this week to join the large halibut fleet off the west and north coasts of Vancouver Island and other British Columbia grounds. They will be en their destinations by May 3, when the halibut season opens.

About 200 halibut boats are expected to make Vancouver their home port this year, and an additional 60 plan to operate out of Prince Rupert. To avoid flooding the market, the fishermen have agreed to a staggered sales plan. The first group going out this year will be those with names in the "M" to "Z" group. Vessels whose names begin with letters from "A" to "L" will comprise the second group, as they were the first out last year.

Fish taken from the West Coast of Vancouver Island, for the market, will be sold at Vancouver although B.C. Packers Limited here will handle a small percentage of the catch. Ceiling prices of 18½ cents and 19½ cents per pound will be paid for halibut this year.

ROGERS MAKE CAGE HISTORY

The Star Cup, symbolic of the senior "B" men's basketball championship of British Columbia, is in Victoria today for the first time since it was first donated for annual competition 33 years ago.

Victoria Rogers, managed by popular, retired Wally Brink, and coached by Reg Patterson, well-known Victoria athlete, accomplished the history-making feat last week-end at Penticton when they defeated the Interior champions, 86-61, in a two-game total-point series.

While the silverware has never before graced a mantelpiece in Victoria it made two trips to Vancouver Island in previous seasons. Nanaimo capers, under the management of Pete Mahon, won the trophy in the 1927-28 season, and, as recently as 1939-40, Alberni Pulp-mill lumber company hoopsters lifted the championship.

Roger Patterson, coach of the victorious Victoria Rogers, was a member of the Alberni squad when the Up-Islanders won the laurels. Playing coach of the A.P.L. five at that time was home owner Frank "Tubby" Mirensky, former Windsor Athletic player. Mirensky will be remembered by Victoria fans for his exhibition against the Kiwanis Dominoes at the Canadian finals at the Willows in the 1936-38 playoffs.

Hoyle-Brown hoopsters made a great bid for the trophy some years ago at Kelowna. The Victoria team defeated the Interior fagers in its first game but suffered a reverse in the second game and lost the two-game, total-point series by a slim margin.

However, the revised trophy, which has escaped Victoria teams for more than two decades is finally here, and in company with their many other admirers we join in extending our congratulations to Victoria Rogers, senior "B" men's basketball champions of British Columbia.

RUN EM BOSS IS NEED OF HELP

Officials of the Greater Victoria Bus Laterers Association, faced with the problem of carrying on their sport without the assistance of service clubs to provide finances in the way of gate receipts, are planning to move the sport indoors. This means added expense, and with only limited funds at their disposal, the task looks almost insurmountable.

Convinced that there are a number of public-spirited citizens who are always ready to assist any worthwhile project which has, as its aim, the desire to assist young athletes, officials of the Greater Victoria Bus Laterer Association are hopeful that financial help to carry out their plans. Persons who have to contribute are asked to send their donations to Cheslie Thomas, treasurer, 2341 Trent Street, who will act as office in receipt of all donations.

In addition to planning to move the sport indoors at the Wednesday bus laterer nights have in mind the operation of a bus laterer bard for all youngsters wishing to learn Canada's national summer game. In connection there is a dire need for sticks and equipment, and any honorary offers with any lacrosse equipment not in use is asked to co-operate.

Interest in bus laterer has shown a decided upswing, and with a shortage of new recruits, officials are appealing for any used equipment that is available. Those willing to assist are asked to telephone Secretary Fred Harding at E0627.

OVERSEAS BOYS MAKE DONATIONS

Philippine expense of the interest in Victoria's Memorial Arena was discussed at yesterday's meeting of the Citizens Arena Committee at the Douglas Hotel when F. C. Wilson, who recently returned from the donation of $10 each were received from Canadian soldier-serving overseas.

The donations came from Pte. W. J. Tindall and Pte. D. R. S. Bell both of the R.C.A.M.C. Canadian General Hospital, England.

Aquatic Stars to Go After Laurels

Cream of British Columbia's Promising Young Swimmers to Compete in Crystal Garden Pool

Several Canadian records may go by the boards at the Crystal Garden on Saturday when the Swimming Club, all with strong entries, go after the provincial championships. Entry lists are in from Victoria, Vancouver Swimming Club and the Vancouver Amateur Y.M.C.A. bringing to 32 the number of young aquatic stars already entered. With the listing of entries from the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, over 100 are expected to compete for the honours. First race is at 8 p.m.

Vancouver Swimming Club, who defeated the Olympic Club in a dual meet recently, are under the direction of Freddy McDermott and are be relied on to offer stiff competition, particularly in the girls events. Prominent of the team of 22 are girls. They will be led by Dorothy Arndt, petite little pill-mound performer, who is counted on to be a heavy point-getter.

Ted Tully, formerly of the Victoria Y.M.C.A. beside the boys squad and will be swimming against his former pals, Don Smyth and Peter Johnson.

Noel Quinberry, Morven Jones and Christine McIntyre are likely to be a match of the Olympic Club and will bring over a versatile team of 20 to Victoria. Quinberry, 14 years old, is a versatile performer, but is particularly specialists, who are trimly the ones to beat in the three sprint events. Baby Platts is coming fast in the breast stroke events and will offer Victoria's Jim Johnson some tough competition in this sub-specialty.

Against the field, Coach McMurdie of the Victoria Y.M.C.A. has entered a powerful team of 28 of his up-and-coming juvenile aquatic stars and expects to take down the bulk of the honors. Perhaps a little less strong in the free style than in other events, the locals are featured by their all-round strength, making them formidable contenders in the relay events. Coach McMurdie's entries are holders of six Canadian titles and will rule as favorites for the team honors on Saturday.

Heading the Y.M.C.A. are the Bonnome, Jim and Peter, breast stroke stars, who can be expected to garner points for their team. Peter holds two Canadian championships and is a member of the two relay championships which hold Dominion titles. Wins in his preferred girls breast stroke events and captured two second places in the Canadian championships. Also holds a Dominion title.

Jean Morgan, Aileen Smyth, Don Bennett, Wade Hansen also shine for local Dominion and provincial titles, while the boys members who will see action on Saturday include Bob Grange, Denis Ramey, Jesse McMurdie, Richard Andrew, Jim Gordon, Watson, Maureen Welch, McKinney, Stuart, Fee, Hamm, Louise Scammell, Pat Mason, Dick Bowden, Ron Bowden, Jim Morgan, Lorne Bowden, Harry Cashmore, Bill Pater, Bob Clarke, Richard Oliver, Dave McCracken, Bruce Baird and Bill Lamey.

TORONTO, April 24—(CP)—Moose Jaw Canucks left for Saskatchewan tonight after defeat in the Canadian Junior hockey championship series by Toronto St. Michael's College Majors.

It was announced attendance at the five-game series totaled 65,427 paid, a game average of 13,087, largest in Memorial Cup history. Winnipeg Rangers and Quinta Greenstreets drew 73,887 in their six-game 1943 series, but the game average was only 12,307.

Make Plans For Lacrosse School Here

At a meeting of the Greater Victoria Bus Laterers Association, held in the Bruce Hotel, Friends Club Fire Hall, Fernwood Road, it was agreed to go ahead for moving the sport indoors. Bus Laterers Club Fighting prepared to the efforts to make this a success. Officials of the Willows and dated they suitable arrangements could be made for the use of the building, and that, if so, arrangements would be made to attract a capacity crowd. It is planned to organize 12.

On a motion from the floor, it was decided to carry on with sweepstakes and to send a letter to the Mainland Bus Laterers Association to move the bus from Beacon Hill Park to the Willows at the expense of the latter organization. Arrangements were made to organize the additional money as it was felt that the Beacon Hill bus was in such condition that it could not be salvaged in its entirety.

Final arrangements were made for the Dance (Social Club) will be conducted this year with Ed Pepham being named as head coach. He will be assisted by Jim Andrews, Jim Smith, Marty Pursuit, Andy Orchanski and Vic Sage, who will instruct the youngsters. All youngsters interested in playing lacrosse, whether with previous experience or not, are welcome to attend the regular sessions at Stevenson Park and slides will be provided for those who are without them. First session will be held on Friday night at 6.30, with the second set for Monday night at the same time.

Closing date for entries was extended to May 8 to enable the teams to have more time to lay their plans for the season, but all prospective entrants are asked to have their entries filed before that date.

Senator "Happy" Chandler New Baseball Commissioner

Major League Club Owners Name Kentuckian For Important Post at Salary of $50,000

CLEVELAND, April 24—(AP)—Baseball, five months quiet for a compromise ended today with selection of Senator Albert B. (Happy) Chandler, of Kentucky, to fill the position vacated by the death of Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

By unanimous vote of the 16 major league club owners at separate meetings, and on the first ballot, the 45-year-old senator was named for a seven-year term at an annual salary of $50,000.

Leslie O'Connor, secretary to the commissioner and a member of the three-man body that has ruled the sport since the death of Landis last November 25, said Senator Chandler would take office within a week-end (time: But in Washington, Senator Chandler said he would be immediately available.

The former governor of Kentucky, who served in the army in Europe, said he had accepted the post because "I believed the running of a commissioner is a case found the necessary support after the committee of Joe Alex Brazle, of Cleveland, Detroit, of the St. Louis Browns.

Brazle said he felt Judge Landis would not have chosen Senator Chandler if he had not been a man who was explaining Senator Chandler. He said he was from the same time he knew that he was available. From another source, however, it was learned the names of Gov. Frank J. Lausche, of Ohio, Bob Hannegan, Democratic chairman of the National Committee, James A. Farley, and President Fred Frick, of the National League were mentioned.

Selection of Senator Chandler for baseball's second commissioner since the death of Landis was made in 1920 was in line with the contention of many that a man who would be good at the job ranks to fill the empty bank position.

SECOND LAWYER TO BECOME COMMISSIONER

Senator Chandler, a graduate of the Union College of Kentucky, Harvard law school, also graduate, is the second lawyer to become commissioner. Mr. Landis still picked off the first and least for the job following his charges in the Black Sox scandal of 1919.

Some club representatives entered the meeting with the idea of selecting the three-man commission as O'Connor, Frick and President Will Harridge of the American League to selection of a durable commissioner.

The found three men, outnumbered, however, as Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees and Horace Stoneham of the New York Giants called a force that called commissioner at once.

MacPhail started campaigning for the Kentucky senator soon after he took over the Yankees three months ago.

The proposal, made by Walter Miles after conflicting opinions had been stated, was preceded by the statement that the existing breakwater was not adequate.

A clause was introduced that a coastal shipping wharf be built on the north side of the harbor.

In discussion of the need for dredging, Alderman T. W. Hawkins, harbor committee chairman, said Victoria should demand that the work be done. A depth of 35 feet was needed, according to the evidence of coast pilots, Alderman J. A. Worthington, a member of his committee, said.

A majority of those present expressed agreement with a proposal that a chamber be made to connect the Outer with the Outer Harbor.

Alderman Hawkins stated that before it makes a report to the City Council, which will meet on May 7, his committee will discuss harbor improvements with R. W. Mayhew, M.P.

Trapper Starved

Death in Austin O. Middlemiss Vancouver trapper whose body was found near the junction of Gray Creek and Bulkley Rivers in North-ern British Columbia, was due to exposure and starvation, a coroner's jury ruled, according to a report reaching Provincial Police headquarters.

Discovered that his shack had been ransacked, found with the Indian of the shared beds of his partner, Arthur Lawrence, a week previous and in a stupefied condition and investigation proceeded to the house. It was considered likely, however, that the rifling of the shack was due to animals which had partly eaten the body prior to said.

Evans body was found near Gray Lake between 90 and 40 miles from Hot of Middlemiss. The two men were trapping as partners.

Natural Causes In Puckey Death

Death of John Dobson Puckey, 67, fireman, while attending a fire at 1152 Yates Street on Saturday, was from natural causes, a coroner's jury decided at an inquest held at Harward's B.C. Funeral Chapel yesterday by Dr. E. C. Hart, the coroner.

Dr. J. H. Moore testified that post mortem examination showed death to have been caused by a lesion of the heart. Fire Chief Alexander Monroe told of seeing Puckey fall on his face at the roadside in front of 1152 Yates Street, shortly after arriving at the scene.

Sgt. Thomas Bannister, city police, and P.O. William Duncan, naval stoker, gave evidence, who were first to reach the fallen man, told how he was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital. He was pronounced dead on arrival. Sgt. Bannister reported

Jurymen were George S. Brooks (foreman), Arthur C. Pollard, Samuel Wilson, Percy P. Jeffrey, George Fairchild and Melvin Agney.

Funeral services for Puckey will be held at 1:30 p.m. today, Rev. N. E. Noel officiating, with burial at Cockrell Burial Park. Members of the fire department and city police will be present.

Make Glider Flights

Members of the Victoria and District Gliding and Soaring Club gathered at the Hillier Farm on Sunday afternoon for the third glider training program of the season. Training consisted of ground tows and short flights for the beginners, with higher and longer flights for the advanced students.

The recently completed power winch, which took place the place of a towing truck, has proven far more satisfactory for the glider. Jack Taylor, manager, stated yesterday. He is confident that all beginners will become good pilots in the end of the season and will be able to handle the new Rader-Kuder now being built at club headquarters 1407 Broad Street.

Members of the organization will meet tonight at headquarters when minor repairs will be made to the glider. Further flights will be made next Sunday.

Kiwanians Honor Canada-U.S. Week

Canada-United States Goodwill Week was commemorated by the Kiwanis Club yesterday at the Empress Hotel where Troy L. Perkins, United States Consul in Victoria, was guest speaker. Anthems of both countries were sung and toasts were proposed to the King and the President.

Political aspects of a democratic government were the topic of Mr. Perkins address, which he linked to the principles of such a government and been in practice for thousands of years in China. "The freedom of democracy should not be taken for granted," the speaker warned. "and never should the word freedom lose its full meaning and vitality."

Democracy was earthly, rather than spiritual, he explained. He mentioned attempts which had been made in China in past centuries to destroy liberal books, and similar action taken by the Nazis in Germany. The books and writings can be destroyed, but never the ideas," he declared.

He closed with the school of thought which advocated total abolition of politics. We know what would be the result. Mr. Perkins continued. He concluded his talk with praise for the late President Roosevelt who had "done a great deal to cook peace and understanding throughout the world.

Reports of the special inclusion United Master Press E. George W. T. Brandt, K.C., M.L.A., and R. W. Lee to Mr. Premier John Hart was unable to attend. Prior to the main address, Dwight Brandt and other members should support the English Victory Loan.

Nigel Morgan, recently returned delegate of the Congress of Labor to the World's Labor Conference at London, England, will address a public meeting in the Shrine Auditorium at 8 p.m. tomorrow. New York Stocks

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—The stock market today continued its climb to new high levels for the past eight years on expanding volume.

The list was forced to absorb considerable profit taking shortly after opening until the approach of the final hour. Lightness of liquidation then inspired bullish forces to lift their bids. Transfers amounted to 1,850,000 shares compared with 1,280,000 yesterday.

Again it was a case of investment demand based on the belief the new administration would foster postwar prosperity, and that reconversion problems following the collapse of Germany would be less difficult than generally expected.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up 1 at a point at 64.8, another peak since August, 1937.

Prominent on the swing were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, N.Y. Central, Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, Chrysler, Nash-Kelvinator, Willys-Overland, International Telephone, Allied Chemical, Engineers Public Service, U.S. Rubber, American Can and Eastman Kodak.

The BAY
Canada's FIRST Store

..... 275TH ANNIVERSARY .....

No time to grow old

ON the second Hudson's Bay Company celebrates its birthday . . . and if you shou' ' ask us, "How long have you been in business", we shoul probably look up our charter and say, "275 years".

Yes, on the second of May we w be 275 years young . . . for we've been so busy keeping a ep ahead of the times that we've had no time to grow old!

We've kept young and forward-looking through sharing in the building and development of this progressive Dominion. That is what you will think, too, wher you visit the Bay stores in Canada. Modern to the minute in equipment . . . confident in values that are right . . . leaders in displays of quality merchandise . . . and with well-trained personnel to give you courteous, efficient service.

On the eve of our 275th anniversary, we claim no merit for age—but rather pride ourselves on our close association with Canada's past progress . . . and re-affirm our faith in her future.

We confidently turn our eyes to a brighter tomorrow, and pledge our hearts to greater loyalty, our hands to greater service . . . to our customers, our community and our country.

Hudson's Bay Company.
